The collection of Chinese works in the British Museum includes 20,000 volumes.

A Chicago clothier advertises for 3,000 bald heads on which to paint advertisements. He attacked with his fists and with sticks, and held the fort for two hours, but was eventually defeated and forced to seek refuge in a house.

A mother propped up her baby in a chair in a photograph gallery in Columbus, Ohio, to have its picture taken, and then excused herself for a moment. She has not yet returned.

A church nearly completed in Moscow has cost over $8,000,000. Dome and cross are thickly plated with gold, and it is calculated that millions of this metal are on Russian church roofs.

Although the St. Gothard tunnel is opened, its ventilation is at present defective, and on the 3d inst. a man was found suffocated to death in it. It is calculated that the tunnel will not be finished till December.

Mrs. Grossman of Berlin, Canada, is 36 years old, and has been married seven years. But she is the mother of twelve children, which might be appropriately described as two solitaires, two sets of twins, and two sets of triplets.

Last month one of the most eminent experts in handwriting in England declared on oath that certain offensive handwriting on a post card was identical with that of the Lord Mayor, and had his opinion been believed, the chief magistrates of London would probably have been convicted of libel.

It has now been clearly shown by M. Castel Blazé that the melody of the great French revolutionary song of the "Marseillaise" is German. Rouget de Lisle, when quartered at Strasbourg, heard a well-known German hymn, and wrote it to the spirited words which were so soon to be adopted by all France.

Pope Leo XIII. is even more simple in his diet than his predecessor. His breakfast consists of coffee and milk and two little rolls; his dinner of vegetable soup, boiled beef, a dish of stewed or roast meat, fruit, and half a bottle of wine; his supper of bread soup, called in Rome, "pappa." A basket of pears or apples is an acceptable present to him.

The main body of the Salvation Army, which is campaigning in England, has something worse to contend with there than hard-hearted city officials. At a meeting in Plymouth on the Drill Hall grounds a crowd of roughs created a disturbance, and, being remonstrated with, attacked the army. The Salvationists repelled the

Some of the converts migrate to Salt Lake, but the majority remain at home, professing a belief in polygamy, but not practicing it. Twenty Elders are to be sent to this field.

The repulsed and therefore desperate lover of Mlle. Paula, a performer in a minor theatre of Paris, swallowed poison while looking at her from a box, and died on the spot. The actress was known to have treated him badly, and when she next appeared on the stage she was greeted with groans and hisses, and a wreath of immortelles was thrown to her as a tribute to the dead lover. She fled from the indignant audience.

NOT SO SINGULAR.

The Journal takes the GAZETTE to task for opposing Grant and Blaine for the Presidential nomination. It would be a singular position for a Republican paper to have something to say about who should be nominated. Until the convention meets at Chicago, we are not opposing the Republican party by working against any man. We are simply opposing the sentiment which points to him as being suitable, and trying in our small way to change it. Until June 23, the proceeding are in the deliberative stage and the party is trying to fix upon the best man. It is much more in the line of an intelligent Republican paper to do what it can to aid those deliberations. It would be much more becoming in a Republican paper to say "Go ahead gentlemen, put up any dirty job you like, we will swallow the whole business, and vote it straight." Such a course would be the ruin of any country. No party could resist such a temptation to despotism. Party organization is necessary, but party leaders must remember that parties are a means to an end, and that end must always be the good of the country. When that end is not to be reached by the success of any man or any party, it is a sacred duty to oppose them. If Blaine is nominated at Chicago, it is one thing. If Grant is nominated it is another. It may then be a choice of two evils, and we will make an honest endeavor to choose the least and try to defeat the worst. The GAZETTE is in exactly the same boat as most of the leading papers of the country. It is trying to defeat what it believes would be a bad nomination. The assertion that we go so far as to say that we will not support Grant or Blaine is false. Our words will bear no such interpretation. We shall not sit on the fence when the time comes, but we decline to have anyone do our deciding for us in advance.

As to the campaign printing neither the Republican party nor any other party can influence us a hair by giving it to us on a whim. It is customary for a competent committee to examine bills when brought in, and if when pay day comes they think the Gazette's money has not been earned or for any reason they think it is not due, they will be as good as dead. It is true that a man who hopes for political honors is foolish for allowing principles to interfere with fealty to party. There is nothing which takes such a hold upon men as religion and politics. Churches and parties are fiercely intolerant. One sends dissenters to hell and the other sends them to death or sends them to the grave of political oblivion. Gov. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, one of the best and brightest men in America, became the candidate of the Democracy at the request of thousands of Republicans, in the hope that he could break the power of the Camerons, but he was beaten and will never be heard of again. The man who expects to ever run for office should choose his party and tie to it through thick and thin, but that seems hardly to be the proper course for a newspaper. There is a large element which is seldom heard from except on election day, and the sentiment of that class is often very different from that of the politician. We have tried to voice this sentiment and if the party does not choose to pay any attention to it it is not our fault if it is not successful.

English is about to see a change in administration. The elections have given the Opposition a working majority, and the Conservative Cabinet will resign. The result is somewhat of a surprise to the Conservatives. It was thought that the election would be pretty close, but the dominant party were secretly sanguine of success. Under the incoming Gladstone administration a peaceful policy will prevail, abroad, home affairs be governed with economy, and old abuses corrected. The election has shown that the British people have tired of the Ashy statesmanship of Disraeli, which has nearly precipitated a war with Russia. The campaign was a heavy. The Gladstone Cabinet will not be likely to involve the nation in a European war, much less to turn its guns against such a tribe as the Zulus, for the sake of conquest.

CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT.

The result is somewhat of a surprise to the Conservatives. It was thought that the election would be pretty close, but the dominant party were secretly sanguine of success. DAGGETT ON THE MULE.

Congressman Daggett rose in his place in the House yesterday, and read from a morning paper the simple announcement that Geo. Munson of La Grande, Union county, Or., was killed on the 2d by a kick from a mule. Mr. Daggett directed the attention of the members to the fact that there were large numbers of mules in the Government service, and that they are the boldest and most aggressive of their kind. The expression of force, as he said, is a Government mule, has become a familiar phrase. "I have not risen," said Mr. Daggett, "to wage war on the mule. My appreciation of the animal's good qualities is well-known. But on behalf of the thousands of brave men whose lives are imperilled by the heels of Government mules, mules whom it is their duty to watch over, and to whose wants they are required to minister, I beg to enter a solemn protest here to-day. I protest against the employment of mules any longer by the Government. Gentlemen, the spirit of Geo. Munson, who died of the heels of a mule in far off Oregon, is hovering over us now. I fancy I can see him in that most eventful hour of his life, stooping to curry the leg of the treacherous beast, perhaps to comb his fraudulent tail. If the spirit of Munson could be heard, I feel sure that its voice would be for the discharge of the vicious hybrid from all ranks of the Government service."

Mr. Daggett gave formal notice of his intention to ask for the appointment of a Congressional committee to investigate the disposition and habits of Government mules, and to report upon the same. He also called upon the Secretary of the Interior for statistics relating to mules in the Government service.

THE WORD "BOOM."

The Toronto Globe says in explanation of the origin of the political word "boom," that "miners in the Far West have a practice of conducting exploitations by a means which they call 'booming.' It consists in damming up some gorge on a mountain side and allowing the water from the melting snow to accumulate until an immense reservoir has been formed. When the pond is full an outlet is made, and the water rushes down with irresistible force, overwhelming everything in its path. Rocks, trees and boulders are hurled along, the top soil is carried away and huge ravines are cut in the mountain sides. Sometimes gullies seventy-five and a hundred feet wide are formed, extending to the foot of the mountain. Rich veins and deposits of ore are often uncovered by this process, and the word 'booming' describing it is seen to have some real significance."

No such "booming" process as that spoken of by the Globe has ever been heard of by miners in this country. It is not necessary to seek for any such far-fetched explanation. The derivation of the word is sufficient justification of its present use in a political sense. One of the primary meanings of the noun "boom," as defined by Webster, is "a hollow roar, as of waters or cannon." There are several words from which "boom" may have been derived. There is the Welsh bwymp, meaning a hollow sound. (This exactly describes the Tilden boom.) Then there is the Dutch word boomen, meaning "to drum, to sound as an empty barrel." The Anglo-Saxon byman means to blow or sound a trumpet. Thus the primary meaning of "boom," seems to refer to sound. It is a natural extension of the meaning of the word to apply it to that process of bringing a candidate into prominence which consists principally in making a noise over him, blowing his trumpet and sounding his praises.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Republican State Conventions for the election of delegates to Chicago are to be held as follows: Connecticut, tomorrow; Kentucky, Iowa, Missouri, April 14; Massachusetts, April 15; Virginia, Oregon and Georgia, April 21; Ohio, South Carolina and Arkansas, April 28; Tennessee, Mississippi and Wisconsin, May 5; New Jersey, New Hampshire and Maryland, May 6; Nevada, May 11; West Virginia, Michigan and Florida, May 12; Illinois, May 19; Alabama, May 20. The National Convention will be held June 7.

An Italian took out naturalization papers in the District Court this afternoon. He could not speak English, and the oath of allegiance which he took had to be interpreted to him in his native tongue. What a wretched law it is which permits a man to become an American citizen who cannot speak the language of the country.

A little money expended for a street crossing in front of a Frisky church would be wisely spent. The mind in that locality is a nuisance. The little children have to wade through it on their way to and from school, can hardly avoid getting their feet wet, and thus give the doctors plenty to do. There are some other reforms besides temperance to which it would be well for our citizens to direct their attention.

Nipping and biting, are we ever to have a change.—Carson Tribune.

Pay back dues, then the Chinaman will bring your clothes home. Then change your undershirt by all means, and rub with mercurial ointment. Most any old Forty-niner can tell you how to get rid of 'em.—Gold Hill News.

An excursion of over 200 persons will leave Boston on April 12 for California. Among them will be Governor Head of New Hampshire, and a number of other distinguished persons are expected to join the party at Chicago.

Col. Lyman Bridges recently informed the Times-Review that about 120 miles of the Northern Nevada railroad will shortly be constructed. The exact route from Battle Mountain had not yet been determined on.

The only person who ever made a respectable winning at Pedro is the Empress of Brazil.—Bodie Free Press.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

What Some Well-Known Newspapers Have to Say About Them.

There is one thing to be said for Mr. James G. Blaine. He is attending to his duties as a Senator instead of electioneering around as a Presidential candidate.—Northwestern Herald (Rep.).

It is the common understanding that Tilden has made a will, disposing of the Democratic nomination for President, in the event that he should not take it for himself. It is not sure that the blank for the legatee has been filled yet.—Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.).

Out of all the seeming chaos and confusion of so many conflicting claims and so much of State pride and local ambition, Bayard stands forth the leader best entitled by experience, gifts and powers, backed by an unswerving fidelity, to become the candidate of the Democratic party for the Presidency.—Memphis Appeal (Dem.).

It is very doubtful whether the Democracy will be able to shake off Mr. Tilden. He has wonderful tenacity and a great deal more power than his enemies admit. If he is hit hard in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh sends him a plaster. If Kelly threatens to demolish him in New York, Ohio bids him be of good cheer. If New England hesitates, the South is "solid," and if the rank and file have occasional erections of conscience the inexhaustible barrel allays the excitement and brings them back to the fold.—Albany Journal (Rep.).

Of leaders, properly so-called, the Democracy has few. Sectional considerations bar all Southern men. New York has thrown Mr. Tilden overboard, Mr. Thurman threw himself overboard by never knowing the fact of the financial current, Mr. Hendricks was never more than a local and undecided person, Governor English is local, Gen Hancock is only a soldier, Mr. Church only a lawyer, Mr. Field likewise. There remain but two who are at once decided in character, opinion, services, and National reputation.—Seymour and Bayard.—Richmond State (Dem.).

The position of Hugh J. Jewett as a candidate for President has hitherto been eminently respectable. It begins now to be commanding.—Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.).

The cause of this sudden Hancock boom in the South may be gathered from the announcement of the fact that General Hancock is now in Mississippi on a visit to his son, who owns a plantation in that State.—Richmond State (Dem.).

The Old Man Changed his Mind. Old Mr. Baker advertised for a wife, specifying a "young woman of irreproachable character." He received a letter from Lizzie Smith of DeWitt, Mo. She said that she was only seventeen and was willing to become an old man's darling wife. As to her character, she assured Mr. Baker that anybody in DeWitt could give him the facts; and she told the truth, for the first person of whom he inquired informed him that she had served three terms in prison for stealing, and one for shooting a man. He decided not to marry her.

From the Boston Gazette. The "Jersey" has reached New York. Perhaps you do not know what the "Jersey" is. Allow me to enlighten you. The "Jersey" is a garment introduced into London by Mrs. Langtry, and at once made fashionable. To speak plainly it is little more than a flannel undershirt. It comes in every color, and is made to fit tight to the figure, and reaches below the hips. It is very much worn in Nincompoopania.

A Little Frost-Bitten. She had visited the city and ice cream was a revelation to her. "Sally," said her cousin, "how do you like the cream?" "The cream itself," said she, "seems to be very good, but it appears to be a little teched with frost."

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

The track of the Southern Pacific Railroad is laid eighteen and a half miles east of Tucson.

Mary G. Frazier, of Gold Hill, Nev., has obtained a divorce from Owen Frazier on the ground of adultery. The plaintiff retains possession of the property.

Tuscarora is expected to strike in the Navajo mine. The Times-Review says a specimen of the ore assayed $1,808 per ton, and it is said that there is a well-defined vein of it. It is considered the biggest find since the Belle Isle strike a year ago.

The Granger and Southern (Nevada) railroad has incorporated forty miles of road, to begin at a point on the San Joaquin river between the mouth of the river and Mohr's Landing to Graysville, in Stanislaus county. It is thought that the right of way can be obtained without difficulty. The engineers will probably start to work surveying in about three weeks.

There was a bad smash-up on the Southern Pacific Railroad Friday night, near Cabazon station, on the east side of the San Gregorio Pass. Nineteen cars loaded with steel rails, lumber and merchandise, were wrecked and badly damaged. Robert Huet, the fireman, was quite seriously hurt by jumping from his engine, and an unknown tramp, who was stealing a ride in a stage coach which was loaded on a flat car, was killed.

The One Man.

From the Eureka Sentinel (Dem.). We see no excuse for hesitating as to the course to be pursued. Horatio Seymour is the one man to lead the Democratic ticket.
